PERSONAL SUMMARY

I am a self-motivated, meticulous designer who relates well to others and am able to communicate with people from a diverse range of attitudes and personalities. I have strong understanding of both graphic and web design. I am able to take and carry out instructions, and work hard both independently and as a dedicated team member. I am able to play a key role throughout the development of a website and can bring my experience to generate work that is engaging, detailed and professional.

I am honest and well organised, a quick learner and I enjoy problem solving. Before my move to design I had many years in the hospitality industry. This made me aware of customer requirements, how to listen to people's needs and how to meet those requirements. I have learned the importance of the customer, and feel I can transfer these skills to clients in the highest standard possible.
